Linda is recognized one of the world's leading experts in third-party risk management. As one of the first financial services' Chief Procurement Officers and Head, Third Party Risk Management, Linda is a respected leader in value-centric procurement and third party risk management. She brings a wealth of experience as a former corporate executive and in-demand management consultant, specializing in highly regulated industries.

Today Linda leads Ontala Performance Solutions Ltd. With the insight and knowledge that comes with hands-on experience and broad expertise, Linda designs, evaluates and strengthens third party risk management practices, helping companies protect their reputation, customers, shareholders, and board. She's customers benefit from expertise in the most critical risk domains – cyber, information and physical security, business continuity, financial, and performance risk.

Linda's acclaimed book "Third Party Risk Management: Driving Enterprise Value", published by RMA and available on Amazon, is the foundation for the "Certified Third Party Risk Management Professional (C3PRMP)" elearning program, delivered through SIG University.
